2013 – Another Year Go's Bye!!

Mmmm ! So now I am 40-31 – geese. I do still not have to worry about people and budgets at work. That was what I did not like about my job. But I still have stressful dreams about it. I had a budget of over 27 million dollars – and stressed about it every day. The Viper stayed in the garage most of the year. A dealer offered me over 4.5 thousand dollars of the Blue Book value for it – since they are so rare – I declined. I am once again searching for ET via SETI@Home on two computers.

Inge went to Europe this summer with her friend. They went to Greece and Spain. Inge visited her cousin Rainer in Majorca Spain. Sounds like they had a great time. And as usual she had a great garden. We built a garden box on the front side of our house and it produced unbelievable crops. She also continues to feed the homeless and teach her meditation class.

Kim and Danny bought a very nice house in upscale Bellevue – very close to Joece's School. Kim is again on the PTSA executive board as secretary. Joece is now in second grade and doing well. She went to California on two occasions. Joece rode the screaming roller coaster that goes upside down with Danny. More fly time that I had. She loves reading books. Dominic continues being creative with his with his Legos. He creates unbelievable Legos devices. He may become an Engineer some day. Dominic started Parkour classes, which is training on how to use your body strength to move through obstacles. Joece is now a Brownie and is taking Violin lessons. Wow – that's hard. She gave us an overview - great. They are gearing up for skiing – they had lessons last year. Go for it!

At Joece's 8th birthday party she had a Magician come and he levitated her (really) and pulled a live rabbit out of a hat. All the kids got to pet it. It was great fun for the kids at the party.

Kim is still a Senior Manager at Bonney-Watson and doing very well. She does a lot of volunteer work at Joece's school and the Brownies. Danny got a new job at Microsoft – he is now in Program management – developing software for Accessibility services for the handicapped. He also likes to play soccer on a Microsoft team. Both Kim and Danny turned 40 this year – Geese, am I getting old. He will help out at Dominic's school.

Darin had an accident trying to protect Charlie – he was on a skateboard and Charlie was on his bicycle – Charlie ran into the skateboard – and in order to protect Charlie he jumped over him and sprained his ankle. He had to wear a boot for several weeks. But he is still golfing. He is still with Tribal Fusion – a software house and doing very well.

Happy Holidays

Lets be thankful for what we have

We hope that everyone has a Great Holiday Season and a Prosperous and Healthy New Year

Happy Holidays to ALL!!!

Kara still enjoys working at her license bureau and has done a lot of volunteer work at a variety of charities. She likes to bring the grandchildren over to our house for play and going to the fantastic Luther Burbank children’s park. They have a zip line an elevator and many climbing features and the ground is padded so if a kid falls they will not be hurt.

Charlie and Caitlin had a great birthday party at a Kid’s place in Tacoma. There must have been 100 people to celebrate. They loved to climb the climbing wall. All the kids had a great time. Charlie and Caitlin are doing well at Day Care --- and seem to be ruling the rest of the kids. Both are extremely smart and will do well in later years.

Kara and Darin were very busy with work (both Tribal Fusion and the Lakewood Licensing office) and with raising both kids as they are of age to sprint all over the house. Work is steady and good; Darin exceeded his sales goal for the year (Tribal Fusion). Work at Lakewood licensing is also going well as Kara and Darin continue to embed their footprint on the office and learn to run a small business. Everyday is a new challenge and learning experience for them.

Charlie and Caitlin are both smart, funny, and super energetic. They love trying new creative tasks and they play very well together. Charlie loves rocket ships and Legos; Caitlin loves drawing and building Legos too. She clutches her "lambie and blanket" that Grammy Jo gave her, and Charlie rotates a new toy to carry around with him while looking for new adventures. School is going well for them, many new friends and activities.

Kara and Darin have enjoyed fun date nights, birthdays, and a few getaways throughout the year. She is the best mom to the kids and a great wife to Darin.

Darin is still playing golf when not with family or working. He went to Bandon Dunes this year down in Southern Oregon and it truly is the mecca of U.S. Golf. His game is steadily improving and he’s excited to get the kids involved next year, which will make it even better!

Kim and Danny like to go out to shows and events – they are a very compatible couple and get along great. Both are extremely good parents and take great care of Jocelyn and Dominic. We occasionally have Jocelyn over for an over-night – she loves spending time with us. Dominic comes over also and loves to play X-Box and Wii and games on my iPhone. Both are very smart and doing well in school.

We had another spectacular summer – 70’ and 80’s with low humidity. But no Blue Angels at Sea Fair due to the Sequester ... Thank You Republican’ts. Who says it rains all the time in Seattle. We have had two summers with NO rain.

I’m still trying understanding Quantum Physics and Cosmology – but Physicists keep referring to a singularity – what that means is that they have no CLUE of what happened or is happening. Even Einstein could not figure it out. I’m sure not smarter than Einstein. But I keep investigating.
